

Susan Whelan OBE DL

Susan Whelan came to Leicestershire in 2010 when the Thai duty-free company, King Power, bought Leicester City Football Club and appointed Susan as their representative on the Board of Directors. She became Chief Executive Officer in July 2011.

Under Susan's leadership, LCFC won the 2013-14 Football League Championship, and within two years were crowned Premier League champions Under Susan's leadership. Susan has kept her focus on building infrastructure across the Club, both on and off the pitch, to ensure the Club achieves long-term sustainable growth. She currently heads the team delivering the new 180-acre Training Ground project in north Leicestershire and Stadium expansion and facilities development projects.

Susan's outstanding contribution to the business community has been recognised with a Leicester Mercury Business Executive of the Year award and an honorary Doctor of Laws from Leicester University.
